We are attempting to locate a small farm pond 1.5 to 2.0 acres with a severe weed problem for use as a demonstration site. We have one location, but can use two. If interested, let us know. There will be no charge for the herbicide.

This has been real alfalfa growing weather and this first cutting promises to be a dandy. Watch it closely; if 50 percent or more of the tips are infested, you'll want to consider spraying. remember, do not treat if harvest time is less than 7 days away.

If you don't spray the first cutting, watch the stubble growth. Treat only if larve and adults are present and new growth is being delayed. Stubble spray is hard on beneficial insects.

We have recommended insecticide materials and rates available.

Don't forget to attend the public hearing on Best Management Practices that are being considered for implementation of the 208 Program at Farmville, COurt House, 8:00 A.M. May 16.

Corn generally does not germinate at temperatures below 50 degrees F. and germinates slowly until soil temperatures reach 55-60 degrees F.

Today's corn hybrids can tolerate several weeks of cool temperatures after planting and still develop into healthy, high yielding stands. If the seed is not rotten or severely damaged by insects, it may emerge after several weeks in the soil.

There is an exception to this - - extra sweet corns in the garden will not tolerate cold soils. These seed will rot. Delay planting of extra-sweet corn until soils warm up.

When do you replant a field? A rule of thumb during optimum planting time is to keep the stand if it has at least 75 percent of the desired population, but not less than 17,000 plants per acre. Yields will likely be reduced by 10 percent or less by a 75 percent stand because corn will compensate for skips by producing a larger ear or two ears per stalk.

On the other hand, if you are looking at a corn stand of 50 percent in mid-June, do not replant unless weeds are severe.

Young Homemakers of Virginia Week

Young Homemakers of Virginia Week, May 13-19, 1979. Mothers Day begins the observance for Young Homemakers of Virginia Week.

This week is observed by all local Young Homemakers of Virginia chapters to enrich family living.

This state organization began in February 1956 as an outgrowth for the wives attending Young Farmers of Virginia convention with their husbands.

The Home Economics Education Service, Virginia State Department of Education, sponsors the state organization. The home economics teachers in the high schools serve as advisers to local chapters of Young Homemakers of Virginia.

The motto of the State Association of Young Homemakers of Virginia and for local chapters is "Enriching Family Life."

The emblem of the State Association and for local chapters is a map of Virginia with a house imprinted on the western part of the state, with the white dogwood bordering the eastern part, and with the name Young Homemakers of Virginia printed on the state. The house represents family life and the dogwood our state flower.

The colors are green and brown. The green is a grey-toned green and the brown is a rich red brown, sometimes referred to as tobacco brown.

Young Homemakers of Virginia work toward:

1. Preserving, enriching and strengthening family living; recognizing that the family unit is of fundamental importance to the happiness of individuals and the improvement of the community.

2. Finding new ways of working together in a group for the purpose of developing and facilitating opportunities for organized education in homemaking and family living.

3. Sharing ways of improving family life; economic well being, physical and mental health, child care, beauty in home surroundings, management, nutrition, clothing, and family relationships.

4. Developing qualities and abilities necessary for creative leadership values in homes and communities.

MRS. MITCHELL ALBERT JOHNSON
the former Miss Karen Sue Schmidt

Wed in Evening Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Karen Sue Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Schmidt, of Rice, to Mitchell Albert Johnson, son of Mrs. Maude Johnson Ray, of Biscoe, North Carolina, took place on Saturday, March 17, at 7 p.m. in the Pisgah Baptist church, Rice.

The Reverend Milton Snyder, pastor at Pisgah, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, wore a white polyester organza gown appliqued with cotton Venise lace. The sheer sleeves were edged in delicate lace and the A-line skirt flowed into a sweeping chapel train. She carried a bouquet of white roses and miniature carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

The matron-of-honor was Ms. Barbara Haper, of Dillwyn.

James Ford, Jr. served as best man. Groomsmen were Clyde Schmidt, Jr., brother of the bride, of Rice, and Gerry Estes, brother-in-law of the bride, of Victoria.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The couple will reside in Appomattox.

Mr. and Mrs. Paulett are shown in a horse-drawn buggy on their farm near Evergreen.

Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Paulett were honored on Sunday, May 6 with Open House in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Hosts for the occasion were Benita and Charles Ripley of Lynchburg. (Benita is a niece of Mrs. Paulett.)

Among the approximately 150 guests who called during the afternoon were Dr. and Mrs. Carl Collins of Roanoke, Dr. Collins married the couple on May 5, 1954.

A floral arrangement of yellow daisies and baby's breath flanked by silver candelabra lent a festive atmosphere to the dining room table.

A three-tiered wedding cake in yellow and green was decorated with the very same bride and groom that adorned the Paulett's original cake and a silver "25."

Those assisting the Ripley's in caring for the guests were: Barbara McLaughlin of Evergreen, Janice Bryson of Richmond, Judy Simpson of Lynchburg, Florence Ranson of Pamplin, Catherine Gowin of Stuart, Rosa Inge of Farmville Etta Inge of Appomattox and Isabelle Gowin of Lynchburg.

Following the Open House, the Paulett's were guests of honor at a supper at the homeof Walter and Gloria Day of Appomattox. Other guests included other family members.

A.A.R.P. Meeting At Pamplin Set For May 10

The American Association of Retired Persons, Pamplin Chapter will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Pamplin Charge United Methodist Church in the Fellowship Hall at 7:30 p.m. tonight, Thursday.

Following the business meeting from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m. Miss Diana Pardue of the National Park Service will be kind enough to show some real interesting pictures of parks to the group. Don't miss this interesting and informative program.

The Pamplin Chapter now has a membership of 44 and would like to increase this number. There is no admission charge.

MONEY SAVING TIP: Saving energy can save you money. To help your air conditioner perform more energy-efficiently, draw drapes or blinds on the sunny side of the house and be sure to keep doors, windows and the fireplace flue closed.

Question: Are all room air conditioners designed for standard double-hung windows?

Answer: Room air conditioners are available for a variety of window types. For example, Whirlpool has units to fit easily into either horizontal sliding-type windows or crank-out casement types, as well as one for use in a standard casement window when a single pane of glass is removed.
